

EB.Now! - The ideal framework for your publications

EB.Now! is a software designed to create powerful electronic publications with just a few clicks of the mouse. It enables you to generate professional solutions with high customer value without any programming skills.

Sensation - electronic publications in only four steps

1. Organise your data in a directory of the Windows Explorer.
2. Copy EBnow.exe to your directory and start the program.
3. Configure the layout, language, title, logo or password protection.
4. Publish your data on CD, DVD, or a memory stick, or on the Internet/intranet using EB.Now!4web.

Simple handling - impressive results for you or your customers

Even the EB.Now! free version allows you to pass on information or other data pools (PDF) with a significantly enhanced value for the recipient.

- Content tree and navigation elements

The content tree and a number of control elements allow you to gain a quick overview and facilitate navigation through your data.

- Multilingual interface – switchable during the runtime

Switching languages allows for immediate international usability of your publication.

- Notes, bookmarks, split screen

Features such as notes and bookmarks or simultaneous display of different documents add sophistication and user friendliness to your publication.

- Title, logo, layout and colour

EB.Now! is supplied with two standard layouts. You can specify the title and logo for each project individually. Additionally created customer-specific layouts can be integrated.

- Searching the entire content (* available in the full version)

EB.Now! allows you to perform a full-text search of the entire data.

- Password-protected archives (* available in the full version)

You can protect your publication with a password.

Publishing on the internet or intranet using EB.Now!4web (* optionally available, requires a full version)

You can just as easily put your project online. To do so, load the archive created for this purpose onto the EB.Now!4web web server.

Royalty-free publications with EB.Now!

The EB.Now! full version extends the features of the free version by additional data formats (Word, Excel, etc.) and protects your data in an archive.

No royalties are charged for your publications.

Powerful features, easy to use

EB.Now! requires a minimum of prerequisites not only on the part of the user. The software runs under Windows and consists of one executable file of only a few MB.

EB.Now! requires no installation and no administrator rights!

You can therefore use a CD/DVD to pass on your publications, or even just a memory stick. Publications are instantly executable from these media!

Range of applications - as varied as your data

The software can be used to create compilations of references, manuals, documentations, training documents and instruction material, collections of articles or advertising material, to name just a few examples.

EB.Now! caters to all these different needs - without any manual work required on your part or that of the service provider!
